

Good Morning!

Hello! Glow worm here. I have a little secret to share with you. I'm actually not a worm at all! I'm the larva of a firefly.

I've been hanging out on the peach for so long that I've actually changed into a firefly!

Unfortunately, centipede thinks that my light is too bright and he can't get to sleep. I can only turn my light on or off, so I thought maybe I could cover up part of my light to help dim it a little bit.

Can you help firefly dim his light? What would it look like if $\frac{1}{2}$ of his light was covered? What if $\frac{1}{4}$ was covered? $\frac{1}{6}$? $\frac{1}{8}$? Use the yellow circles to show each fraction.
