Good morning, recipe writers! Now that your soup recipes are perfected, it's time to shop for ingredients! We are going to place one big order, so we need to figure out how much of each ingredient to order. Help our class shop by conducting a classroom poll to find out what ingredients are on friends' recipe cards. We need an accurate count, so be sure to collect data from everyone, and be careful to only collect data once from each person. Please use the graphs below to record your findings!
